CHIEF OF CIO
QUITS PARLEY
ON GM STRIKENEGOTIATIONS ARE PLEASANT, SAYS
MEDIATOR

Detroit, Jan. 31. (P)—President R. J. Thomas of the CIO United Auto Workers said tonight he would not take part in further negotiations with General Motors for the time being, but that other union negotiators would carry on the conference.

Thomas said his absence would continue "until there is some indication that GM wants to settle the strike."

"As long as C. E. Wilson (GM president) or someone else who has authority to settle the strike does not attend the meetings, why should I attend?" the union chief-tain asked.

Thomas emphasized that he was speaking only for himself and added that "this does not mean a breakdown of negotiations between the company and ourselves."

No Closer On Wages

He made the statement as he returned to UAW-CIO headquarters after attending the second session in the presence of special Government Mediator James F. Dewey.

It appeared probable, therefore, that UAW-CIO Vice President Walter P. Reuther would be in charge of the union delegation when the third company-union meeting is held tomorrow.

Dewey said that wages were not one of the main subjects of discussion at today's meeting but that agreement would be sought on as many other issues as possible "before we take up the main issues."

The government mediator said that a company-union dispute over maintenance of membership was one of the top issues, along with wages.

Thus the meeting brought the union and corporation no closer together in wage differences, which find General Motors sticking to its offer of 13½ cents an hour increase (about 12 per cent) and union leaders asking for a 30 per cent increase. GM made the 13½ cents offer early in December.

Bickering Eliminated

Dewey characterized today's session as a "very pleasant meeting." This was in contrast to yesterday's first conference which was reportedly marked by much bickering, sometimes in heated manner, by the participants.

Dewey disclosed that the union and the corporation at this time are attempting to reach an understanding on promotions in the ranks of General Motors employees represented by the UAW-CIO.

This involves the necessity of balancing corporation and union principles in regard to "seniority" and "skill," he explained. The problem has been whether to place greater weight on one or the other, and Dewey said he hopes to clear up this problem at an early date so the way can be opened to other discussions, wages included.

Dewey himself said the problem involves the "right of a man to get a better job on the basis of seniority."

In Washington, meanwhile, President Truman turned down a suggestion from Henry Ford II that price control be lifted from the auto industry and its suppliers.

The youthful president of the Ford Motor Co. said Wednesday night that such action would help restore industrial peace, but Mr. Truman claimed it could not be done without bringing on inflation.

LEGION RAPS GI
FAMILY TRAVELFree Trips Overseas For Dependents Is Called Ridiculous Mistake

Washington, Jan. 31. (P)—The American Legion complained today that it was a "ridiculous mistake" for the Army to pay travel expenses overseas only for families of officers and high non-coms.

Congressmen charged discrimination and questioned the effect on GI families. The war department announced yesterday a plan to let some wives and children join servicemen abroad. It said that the government was authorized by law to pay for the travel of dependents of officers, the three top grades of non-commissioned officers, and certain civilian employees of the department.

Families of enlisted men in lower grades will not be permitted to go under present arrangements, even if they should pay their way, but plans to include them later are under study, the war department said.

The department said a housing shortage was primarily responsible for the present ban against the enlisted men's families.

John H. Steele, national commander of the American Legion, said in a statement that it was the lowly paid privates, privates first class, corporals and duty sergeants who needed help and encouragement, not the higher ranking personnel.

He said the war department was "making the same ridiculous mistake in handling this matter as it had in the handling of the point system of discharges."

Girl From Manila
To Confront Major
She Says She Wed

Manila, Friday, Feb. 1. (P)—Olivia Josephine Oswald said today that she intended to go to America to confront Maj. Arthur Wermuth, famed "one-man army" of Bataan.

"Maybe if he sees me in person he will know who I am—his wife," she asserted in an interview. She has filed an annulment suit in the Manila courts which stated that she and the American hero were married in Manila the night before Pearl Harbor was attacked.

Wermuth, in Chicago, identified himself yesterday in a picture Miss Oswald had described as her wedding-party photograph, but he denied "that this picture had anything to do with a wedding." He insisted he never had married Miss Oswald—who has been using her maiden name, she said, since she learned Wermuth has been married to an American girl since 1935.

She laughed bitterly at the Chicago report, and declared "I intend to go to America."

Tough Strike Control
Bill Wins First Test
In House, 258 To 114

Washington, Jan. 31. (P)—A strike control bill armed with formidable teeth won a House test vote today by such an emphatic margin that leaders predicted it, or some similar measure, would pass the chamber.

Members voted 258 to 114 to consider the bill as a substitute for fact-finding legislation asked by President Truman.

Offered by Rep. Case (R-SD) the bill would make unions liable to injunctions, outlaw violent picketing or organized boycotts. It would provide for civil suits against either employers or workers violating labor contracts.

It also would create a national labor-management mediation board to help settle disputes which it believed affected the public interest. Strikes would be barred for 30 days, while the board sought to settle the disputes.

The bill was attacked by supporters of labor unions as a "union-breaking bill," but praised by its sponsors as necessary to protect the public from damage due to labor strife.

House leaders told newsmen privately that they looked for House approval within a few days of the far-reaching bill, or one closely following its lines. In that case, its foes count on the Senate to defeat it, or, as a last resort, on the possibility of a presidential veto.

BRITAIN HELPS
OCCUPY JAPANArrival Of English Troops
Permit Further Cuts
In U. S. Forces

Tokyo, Jan. 31. (P)—British commonwealth participation in the occupation of Japan will permit further reduction in American forces, General MacArthur disclosed today in a statement welcoming the advance party due to land at Kure Friday.

MacArthur's public relations office said the number and schedule of withdrawal of American troops would be determined after the exact composition and arrival time of the full British force became known.

The British zone will embrace 3,000 square miles in Hiroshima prefecture of southern Honshu Island, including the Kure Naval base.

MacArthur said the British acceptance of occupation duties "will materially broaden the base along international lines of a burden which, up to this time, has, of necessity, been carried to a large extent unilaterally by the United States." He added it would "enable a diminution in our own strength, and will thereby bring welcome relief to many individuals."

STRIKERS VISIT LANSING

Lansing, Jan. 31. (P)—A 100-car caravan of General Motors strikers from Flint will attend a mass meeting here Friday which will be addressed by Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice-president in charge of General Motors division, and George F. Addes, UAW secretary-treasurer, the United Automobile Workers-CIO announced today.

About the only resemblance the Case substitute bore to Mr. Truman's requested legislation was the 30-day cooling off provision. Mr. Truman had asked that fact-finding boards be set up, given power to subpoena records and witnesses and that strikes be banned for 30 days while the boards deliberated.

The House labor committee approved a diluted version of the president's plan. It set up the boards, but denied them subpoena authority and made no provision for the cooling off periods.

Heated debate continued in the House after today's vote, and it will be at least Saturday and probably next week before final action is taken.

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) of the rules committee led the opponents of the Case bill, declaring that "instead of giving the president the aid he asked we give him this vicious legislation."

BILBO PREPARES
FOR FILIBUSTERSouthern Senator Tired
Of Seeing U. S. As Santa
For Great Britain

Washington, Jan. 31. (P)—A threat to filibuster against a loan to Britain "until hell freezes over" came today from Senator Theodore G. Bilbo.

And the durable Mississippi Democrat was scarcely started on his personal contribution—60 days, he says—to a filibuster already going against a permanent fair employment practice commission.

Bilbo told the Senate he hoped to "save the taxpayers four billion, four hundred million" by a marathon talk against the British loan.

"I'm willing to be a cousin of the British," he said. "I believe in good fellowship, and I'm proud British. But I'm tired of seeing Uncle Sam be a Santa Claus."

President Truman asked Congress yesterday to approve a $3,750,000,000 loan to Britain. An Anglo-American agreement provides for an additional credit of $650,000,000 to settle lend-lease debts. Congressional action on that is not required.

Administration leaders admit fierce opposition is in store for the loan. Senate and House banking committees showed no signs of prompt action.

Parking Lot Death
Not Due To Drugs

Detroit, Jan. 31. (P)—No trace of drugs or alcohol has been found in more than 70 tests on the body of William M. Burns, Dr. Paul E. Klebba, Wayne county medical examiner, reported today.

The body of Burns, 33-year-old draftsman, was found January 23, naked to the waist and frozen, in the back of his car in a downtown parking lot.

Airliner Crashes
On Mountain Top;
21 Believed Lost

BY RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

Elk Mountain, Wyo., Jan. 31. (P)

A driving snowstorm forced temporary abandonment tonight of a search for a Seattle-to-New York United Air Lines transport plane bearing 18 passengers and a crew of three believed to have crashed atop towering Elk Mountain early today.

The storm, of near-blizzard proportions, dropped an opaque mantle about the 11,125-foot peak and compelled a search party of sheepherders and ranchers to turn back after they had climbed the south face of the mountain to within 300 feet of the summit.

Rapidly falling temperatures and deep snowdrifts on the mountain complicated the task of the search party and made their descent hazardous as night settled about the forbidding mountain slopes.

United Air Lines officials said that a plane would take off from Cheyenne tomorrow, weather permitting, in an attempt to fly closer to the scene of the reported crash than did another UAL plane earlier today.

Aerial searchers today sighted a deep, quarter-mile long furrow across the snow of the peak 65 miles northwest of Laramie, Wyo. They concluded that the furrow was evidence that the plane had "glowed into the peak close to the top about 3 a. m. (Mountain Standard time.)"

An Army convoy of 50 military policemen under the command of Lt. Paul L. Farver was en route here from Fort Warren to aid in the search.

Highway patrolmen and state highway workers worked feverishly until after nightfall to clear a county highway from Elk Mountain to Hanna so that the graded thoroughfare would be in condition for any emergency.

Civil Air Administration officials were in Hanna on the way to Elk Mountain to investigate the reported crash.

The little town of Elk Mountain will be virtually taken over by the military while the search is under way.

About the plane were 12 reported.

SLICE OF SALES
TAX REQUESTEDMayors Ask One-Sixth Of Revenue For Use Of Local Governments

Lansing, Jan. 31. (P)—The newly-formed Michigan Conference of Mayors today asked the legislature to appropriate one-sixth of the sales tax for city, municipal and township use.

A segment of the conference—which assumed permanent shape by adopting a constitution and electing officers—held out for one-third of the three per cent tax but a resolution in support of the State Supervisors Association program and of a proposed bill calling for a one-sixth return received unanimous approval.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries of Detroit, newly-elected Conference president, said he understood the supervisors would sponsor a one-sixth return bill at the special legislative session convening Monday.

Besides Jeffries, Conference officers are: Mayor E. C. McLogan of Flint, vice-president; City Manager J. F. Gibbs of Ferndale, secretary; and Mayors Ralph Crego of Lansing, George W. Welsh of Grand Rapids, E. F. Behan of Jackson, Arthur J. Law of Pontiac, Ivar H. Anderson of Iron Mountain, Maurice E. Hunt of Sault Ste. Marie and James J. Beckman of Marquette, trustees.

Windsor, Ont., Site
Sought As Airport
For Detroit Region

Detroit, Jan. 31. (P)—A special three-man committee from the Detroit city council began arrangements today to meet with Canadian officials to discuss a site in Windsor, Ont., proposed for an international airport.

The area, at the Windsor end of Ambassador bridge, was termed by the Detroit plan commission "the best ultimate site" for Detroit's badly-needed postwar air center.

Council President George Edwards conferred informally Wednesday with Mayor Arthur J. Reame of Windsor, who invited Edwards to accompany him to Ottawa next week to talk the matter over with the Canadian air ministry.

Following Edwards' report, the council named two other of its members, Eugene Van Antwerp and Charles E. Dorais to accompany the council president to the conference.

BILL TURNED DOWN

NO ACTION YET
IN STEEL TIEUPPossible Intervention By Government Believed
Taking Shape

Washington, Jan. 31. (P)—Top level government officials who could not be quoted by name said tonight that efforts to settle the 11-day-old steel strike had reached a stalemate.

New plans for possible federal intervention began taking shape. White House advisers were reportedly whipping together some sort of strategy for President Truman's approval.

But government seizure of the industry still was described as a "last resort"—to be used only if all other attempts to bring agreement fail.

Officials took a somewhat less pessimistic view of the General Motors strike, even though the company and the CIO—United Auto Workers are far apart on wages and maintenance of membership issues. They regarded the fact that the corporation and union have resumed dickering as a hopeful sign.

Activity pointed to new government moves in the steel strike followed a statement yesterday by Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corporation, that price increases "greatly in excess" of $6.25 a ton would be required if the president's recommendation of an 18½ cents an hour wage increase were accepted.

Thus far, government discussions have not gone beyond a possible increase of around $4 a ton.

Petoskey Digs Out
Of Snow, Prepares
For Winter Frolic

Petoskey, Mich., Jan. 31. (P)—Petoskey dug out from under more than a foot of snow today in preparation for the opening Friday of its winter carnival, one of the leading winter sports attractions in Northern Michigan. The carnival was suspended during the war.

The highlight of the first day's program will be the coronation of 18-year old Audrey Kneal, as Michigan winter queen, in ceremonies at Sports Park.

William Palmer, secretary-manager of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, will preside at the coronation ceremony. Palmer is scheduled to address a gathering of the civic leaders and winter sports enthusiasts at a noon-banquet.

More than 200 adults and children will take part in a skating pageant at Sports Park, Friday night. A full program of skating, skiing and tobogganing is scheduled for the weekend. The carnival will continue through next week, official ceremonies ending at the winter sports ball in the high school gymnasium on Feb. 8.

Chrysler Recalls
9,000 Workers At
3 Plants Monday

Detroit, Jan. 31. (P)—Chrysler corporation called back 9,000 employees who recently were laid off progressively because of the glass shortage.

The workers were told to report at Chrysler, Dodge and DeSoto plants Monday and a company spokesman said, "We will be able to operate a little while—we don't know just how long—despite the current steel strike."

He declined to estimate the company's steel stockpile.

GRAND RAPIDS
PASTOR TELLS OF POISONINGASSAULT ON CHURCH
ELDER LEADS TO ARREST

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 31. (P)—Rev. Frank W. Siple, 53, pastor of a suburban church, today pleaded guilty to a murder charge in the death of his 18-year-old daughter, Dorothy Ann, on July 31, 1939.

The pastor's court appearance came within a few hours after a state toxicologist reported finding traces of poison in the girl's body which was exhumed on orders of Kent County Prosecutor Menso R. Bolt.

Wife Is Present

In quick succession, he was arraigned in justice court and in superior court, where he calmly pleaded guilty to the charge. Siple's wife was in both courtrooms as he made brief appearances.

Justice Willard McIntyre accepted the clergyman's plea and bound him over to the superior court where Judge Leonard D. Verrier held the second hearing. The defendant waived examination and was remanded to jail to await circuit court trial.

Judge Verrier said tonight defendant be examined by a sanity commission.

Judge Verrier said tonight that Siple will be brought into court again after the sanity commission makes its findings.

He pointed out that under Michigan law, no jury will sit on the case, but the prosecutor will introduce sufficient evidence and testimony to enable the court to determine the degree of murder—first or second.

Overcome By Gas

The judge said that if the commission finds Siple insane, the defendant could be committed to an asylum.

Siple's arraignment culminated a series of events that began on New Year's Day when he was arrested on complaint of Lyle Doan, 42, elder of the church (Southern Park Church of God), who charged Siple hit him over the head with an iron pipe.

Prosecutor Bolt said that when police went to Siple's home to take him into custody on January 1, they found him overcome by illuminating gas in the basement of his home. The officers, who revived him, reported they found gas jets turned on.

Bolt said that during the investigation Doan turned over a box of candy which he reported had been sent to him at Christmas by the minister. State police toxicologists said it contained poison. Prosecutor Bolt said he then began the investigation into Dorothy Ann's death for "a number of reasons." He declined to elaborate.

Girl "Mentally Ill"

After the toxicologists' examination Wednesday disclosed traces of poison, Prosecutor Bolt and other officials quizzed the minister for four hours today.

Bolt said the clergyman finally admitted responsibility for the girl's death. The prosecutor gave Deploying soldiers feared killed with six civilians, in addition to the three crew members.

A black rocket, sighted three times during the search, was seen in the lone cloud which hovered over the mountain, convinced Capt. Frank Crismon, UAL assistant supervisor of flight operations in Denver, and four other aerial searchers that the Seattle-to-New York plane crashed on the peak about 3 a. m. MST.

The twin-engine Douglas transport made its last regular stop at Boise, Ida., where it picked up Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bender, en route to their home in Sheffield, Ill., two days after their wedding at Twin Falls, Ida.

Elk Mountain lies in the northern end of the Medicine Bow Mountain Range of Southern Wyoming in a wild and rugged country that is a sportsmen's mecca in the summer, but a grim, forbidding stretch of sparsely settled terrain in the winter.

Reports from outlying ranchers said winds were so high and cold so intense it seemed doubtful that even with the aid of snowshoes and skis searchers would be able to reach the mountain's summit before tomorrow.

Names of service personnel, most of whom were being deployed from Pacific service eastward for discharge in their home areas were withheld pending notification of the next of kin.

GRAND RAPIDS PASTOR TELLS OF POISONING

this version of Siple's story:

Dorothy Ann, who was graduated from high school in June, 1939, was ill and Siple said he gave her the drug "because she was mentally ill and he didn't want her to go to an asylum."

The minister said he administered the first dose of the medicine, which he described as "quick and painless," on a Sunday morning just before leaving to deliver his church sermon.

That night, Siple said he gave the girl a second dose and then destroyed the remainder of the drug and its container. The girl died within a few hours. A death certificate listed coronary thrombosis and nervous vomiting as the cause of her death.

The prosecutor said he asked Siple after the signing of the confession, "did you have any urge to tell all this to anyone before?"

He quoted the minister as replying, "No I never did, but I was relieved after I told it."

Had Six Daughters
Bolt said that just before making the confession the minister asked him, "are you a family man?"

When Bolt replied in the affirmative, he said Siple told him, "then you'll understand why I couldn't bear to see my daughter go to an asylum for life."

Siple had six daughters by his first marriage and no children by his present marriage.

His daughters are Jeanette, a Wave, who came home from her Mars Island, Calif., post to be with her father; Marjorie, an army nurse, stationed at El Paso, Texas; Virginia, in Chicago; Mrs. Marjorie Wyse, of Rochester, Minn.; and Mrs. Mildred Niles, of Grand Rapids.

Siple, pastor of the (Southlawn) church for 15 years resigned in 1938, but was reinstated in 1940 largely due to Elder Doan's efforts, police said. They added that the New Year's Day quarrel with Doan followed a dispute over administrative matters.

CHIEF OF CIO QUITS PARLEY ON GM STRIKE

1. Disclosure that negotiations had begun between the UAW-CIO and Hudson Motor Car Co., with the union seeking an increase similar to the 18 1/2 cents an hour raise granted by Chrysler Corporation last Saturday.

2. A union request that Chrysler and Ford workers, who received an 18 cents an hour boost the same day, donate the first week's added earnings to the General Motors strike fund. The union attributed the "success" of the Ford and Chrysler negotiations to the "determined stand of the GM strikers."

3. Filing of a second charge of unfair labor practices against the Packard Motor Car Co. by the Foremen's Association of America (Independent). The association told the National Labor Relations Board that Samuel K. Sacks was discharged by the Packard management because he "sided, joined and assisted the FAA for the purpose of collective bargaining and other mutual aid and protection."

The NLRB has carried the first charge—that Packard refused to bargain with the union on the ground that foremen are part of management—to the U. S. circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati for an enforcement order.

Witness In McKay Trial Says Ehrmann Was Liquor Buyer

BY ROBERTA APPLEGATE
Jackson, Jan. 31. (AP)—Max Lee, former purchasing director of the state liquor control commission, today testified in the McKay liquor conspiracy trial, that Fred C. Ehrmann, of Grand Haven, former commission secretary, determined the purchase of liquor by the commission.

Lee followed Ehrmann to the witness stand after the latter had testified nervously for a day and a half.

Ehrmann, testifying under a grant of immunity from prosecution, said under questioning by both Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler and William Henry Gallagher, counsel for Frank D. McKay, Grand Rapids politician, that he asked for state police protection after he became a state's witness.

On trial with McKay are William H. McKelghan, and Fisher L. Layton, Flint politician, and Charles and Earl J. Williams, former liquor agents, they are accused of conspiring to corrupt the state liquor commission between 1933 and 1940.

"It Grows as It Goes" is the motto of New Mexico.

Munising News

Rival Basketball Squads To Tangle On Munising Floor

Munising—Three games will be on tap for the local fans tonight when the Eben varsity B squad and Junior teams invade the Mather court.

The first game between the Junior teams of Mather and Eben will get underway at 6:30 p. m.; the second game between the schools' two B teams at 7:15, and the climax will be the battle of the two varsity squads, at 8:30.

In years back Munising played the Eben varsity as a warmup for their Friday games but last year after Eben defeated Munising on their own floor they asked for and got a date on Mather's schedule.

So tonight's game should prove very colorful with all the intense rivalry between the two schools.

Playing for Mather tonight will be two boys whom Coach Geniesse has been waiting all year or since the opening of basketball to become eligible to play. They are both a couple of six footers, Dick Reed and Edward Sowa who were both ineligible for first semester play, Reed for scholastic difficulties and Sowa for transferring from a Wisconsin seminary school to Mather. Both boys will probably be placed on the forward line to give the squad more punch.

Eben has a near 500 percentage going into tonight's game and it should prove very interesting.

$5,455 IS BID AT LAND SALE

689 Acres In County Go
At Average Price Of
$5 Per Acre

The annual sale of state-owned lands in Delta county at public auction conducted by the conservation department was held at the court house in Escanaba yesterday morning, with the sale fairly well attended and successful bids totaling $5,455.

C. A. Millar, assistant chief of the conservation department's lands division, and J. E. Jankowski of Lansing, conducted the sale which opened at 10 a. m. and was completed in one and one-half hours.

Twenty descriptions of acreage property in the county, totaling 700 acres, was offered in 18 of the descriptions, of 689 acres, was sold for a total of $3,645. The average sale was at a price of about $5 an acre, which Millar said was comparable with the acreage sales made by the state in other sections of Northern Michigan.

Bidding was spirited on acreage, and property with any timber on it sold at double the appraised price placed on it by the state. Indicative are some of the bids in comparison with the valuation placed by the state on 40-acre plots. One forty priced by the state at $150 sold for $295; two forties at $120 sold for $330 and $365; another at $130 sold at $285. One piece of about 30 acres, with frontage on the Escanaba river near Cornell, appraised by the state at $60 sold for $90.

In Escanaba and Gladstone there were 166 platted descriptions offered and 69 were sold with the bids totaling $1,810.

One lot with two dwellings at 321 South 12th street in Escanaba, appraised by the state at $2,500, went on the state's open market classification when no bids were received at the sale. Several persons evinced interest in the property and may now purchase it at the state's price. The property will be sold to the first person whose actual payment of the appraised price is received in Lansing.

In Gladstone two lots on which the old Lyric theater building is located, appraised by the state at a total of $175, sold for $685.

Former owners of all properties sold have 30 days from the date of the sale to redeem their properties by meeting the price paid by the successful bidders.

TOURISTS LURED BY MICHIGAN ADS

Marquette—"Vacation planning is in the air! And all over Michigan, one of the nation's greatest vacationlands is being groomed and readied for your summertime pleasure."

Those were the opening lines of one of a number of full-page advertisements prepared by the Michigan Tourist Council, to appear in nationally circulated magazines such as Time, Ladies Home Journal, Normal Instructor, Colliers, Saturday Evening Post, American Magazine, Field and Stream, National Travel Magazine and Holiday, a new publication published by the Curtis Publishing company and devoted entirely to travel.

Advertising in these national medium scheduled for the months of March, April, May and June, will cost the state of Michigan $75,000. In addition, it was announced by George E. Bishop, chairman of the council, will spend about $15,000 in newspaper advertising, $10,000 in radio advertising, $20,000 for the maintenance and operation of tourist information bureaus and $30,000 for literature.

Through cooperation with chambers of commerce and the four tourist and resort associations, secretaries of which are members of the tourist council, inquiries as a result of this advertising and publicity program will be turned over to these cooperating agencies as well as to operators of hotels, resorts, and cabin groups, Bishop said.

"This advertising program," Bishop announced, "is on a much larger scale than ever attempted before and is designed to compete with the national advertising programs of other areas."

Agents And Land Owning Companies Urged To Sell Plots

Marquette—Due to an unprecedented demand for resort properties in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau declared today that "the time is ripe for real estate agents, and companies owning large blocks of land suitable for resort purposes, to council together to the end that lands now idle be placed on the market."

"For the past 18 months," he said, "there has been an unparalleled demand for properties, either for private use or for development as resort properties. Many of these prospects, most of them residing outside the peninsula and many outstate, have sought the aid of real estate agents. Others have come to the Development Bureau to be relayed at those having resort properties for sale."

"By and large," he went on, "there seems to be an apparent unavailability of desirable areas for resort use. The contemplated improvement of resort properties by these prospective purchasers, either for private or commercial uses, and considering the investments to be made and the taxes paid, is an indication of substantial, solid growth in the Upper Peninsula resort business. The transformation of the transient traveler into a part time, taxpaying citizen, is surely sound."

He pointed out that generally real estate agents have been kept busy supplying the demand for residential and commercial properties in the cities where their offices are located, that they have

Strike Control Bill

THE strike control bill now before Congress is bitterly assailed by labor unions as a scheme to break labor organizations, but an unprejudiced study of the proposal reveals nothing in the bill that would deprive labor of its generally recognized rights. The bill does recognize the public interest in strikes, however, and is designed to protect that interest.

The bill provides for the same 30-day cooling off period in advance of a strike that was proposed by President Truman. Labor organizations opposed the clause when it was offered by the president and their attitude has not changed. Nevertheless, a 30-day prohibition against strikes during which time the disputes may be negotiated for settlement is good business for all concerned, including union members, because it provides a basis by which strikes may be settled without the loss of paychecks to the employees.

The proposal also would outlaw violent picketing, which is illegal, anyway, and it would provide penalties for violations of labor contracts. In this latter instance, the measure establishes a sense of union responsibility for the sanctity of a labor contract, something which inevitably will have to come in labor relations.

The strike control bill as it is now written probably will not become law. The violent opposition of labor and the fact that the bill goes even further than the suggestions advanced by President Truman suggest the probability of amendments which will remove some of the teeth. The American public, however, has cause to hope that out of the debate will come a law that will more adequately protect the public's interest in major labor disputes than is now provided.

Advertising for Tourists

WITH the formation of the Michigan Tourist Council, the state of Michigan has outlined a national advertising program that will enable it to compete on even terms with other states and regions.

During the next few months, Michigan's vacation message will appear in a number of leading national publications, including the Curtis Publishing company's new magazine, Holiday, the first issue of which will be on the news stands in March. In addition, the council will advertise extensively through the media of newspapers, radio and direct mail.

Michigan is not going into this year's tourist advertising program half-heartedly. In all, about $150,000 will be expended. Such efforts, are bound to attract the attention of the vacationing public, and the Upper Peninsula will get its share of the traffic.

The colorful advertisements present an attractive picture of the vacation possibilities in this state. The vacationists who are attracted by the advertisements naturally will expect to find everything as advertised. This means that summer resorts and other accommodations, which have been neglected during the wartime years, will have to be renovated. There is much work to be done by the tourist industry in preparing for the coming tourist rush.

Reduced Training

THE decision of the U. S. Army to further reduce the basic training period from 13 weeks to eight weeks to speed the replacements of overseas soldiers is a move that has been foreseen for some time.

The need for replacement troops is acute. During the war the basic training period was revised several times and at one time recruits were given only eight weeks training, even though these men were headed for combat. Soldiers going overseas now are destined for occupation duty and presumably it will be possible to continue their training, even while they are engaged in occupation service. The overall efficiency of the U. S. Army should not be severely diminished by the new program of eight weeks recruit training, and the reduced training program will serve to speed the shipment of replacement troops to overseas assignments.

Men selected for specialist training in the Army will, of course, be retained in this country for the training period necessitated by their ultimate assignment.

Farm Strike Dropped

WHILE it seemed to be a good idea at the time, the National Farmers Union, the National Grange and the American Farm Bureau Federation have decided that a nation-wide strike as a protest against industrial walkouts would be impractical.

Farmers are enraged because the strikes in steel, automotive and other industries are holding up the delivery of equipment they urgently need for their agricultural operations. Someone suggested that the farmers also go on strike as a means of hastening industrial peace.

The farmers are not alone in feeling that everyone might as well quit work along with the more than a million workers who have gone out on strike. By this time, the industrial reconversion program should have been rolling along at a good clip, and anxious consumers would be getting a fair supply of automobiles, refrigerators, radios and other new goods denied them in wartime.

Some way must be found to settle wage and other labor disputes without resort to gigantic strikes, such as those that are now spreading industrial stagnation throughout the nation. There must be a better and more peaceful way.

Unrationed Talk

HOWEVER one may feel about the bill that launched the latest Senate filibuster, few can cheer the use of the parliamentary strait-jacket at a time when legislation high in the public interest and vital to the country's immediate future has been pressing for consideration.

The usual excuse for a filibuster is that senators wish to "inform the public on the issues at hand," or some such. But the engineers of this filibuster didn't even bother with the pretense. They began it by reading, discussing, and amending the journal of the previous day's proceedings—although unanimous approval of the journal is an almost automatic routine at the beginning of each day's session.

It wasn't a very popular time for the demonstration. And if urgent legislation is blocked too long and too often, the Senate may again find itself facing public pressure to put a real curb on its fiercely guarded privilege of endless talk. As things stand now, the Senate rules provide another chance for too few men to control the destinies of too many.

Other Editorial Comments

KINROSS AND PCA

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

Choice of Kinross airport represents faith of the Pennsylvania-Central Airlines in the future of commercial aviation in the Northern Peninsula.

The government-built concrete strips already represent an investment of some $3,000,000. There are unlimited possibilities for expansion and improvement. The sandy soil, high elevation are excellent for airport purposes. The future may find Kinross the aviation capital of the Northern Peninsula with major airlines making it their terminal and taxiplanes dispersing passengers, mail and freight to all points.

This concept no doubt dominated the thinking of PCA officials who visited here last week and who no doubt are guided by the experiences of the company which grew from a merger of the Pennsylvania and Central Airlines to become one of the foremost air transport lines in America with the capable and forward-looking C. Bedell Monro at the helm.

It is regrettable of course that the Sault's own airport could not fill the bill. Twenty-five years ago when the land was acquired, the 160 acres were thought more than enough for the Sault's aviation future. But aviation's progress and the war changed all that. Even 450 acres now are not enough.

Incidentally the Sault might have had the best airport U. S. Engineering Corps brains could devise had not the tide of war turned in favor of the United States when it did. Construction of the Sault airport, concrete runways, fills, and all was in the blueprint stage when the props started falling from under Hitler and Tojo.

A comforting thought in the switch of PCA to Kinross is the private aviation possibilities for the Sault airport. If the PCA idea of the future of aviation pans out, and there is no reason why it should not, the air will be filled with planes and the Sault airport will have more than enough business. The PCA move to Kinross is a tip-off to the bright future of aviation on our own field.

SKATER'S MOON

(Christian Science Monitor)

When the January moon is full and ice is thick and smooth on the Old Mill Pond, one can hear the wholesome shouts of skaters rising into the sub-zero air. Hoots of laughter mingle with the screams of some skater who, finding his legs disagreeing about direction, tumbles to the ice with a disconcerting thud.

These are the nights when Bobby is allowed to stay up until 9 o'clock to try his first pair of skates. These are nights when Mom and Dad, swinging arm-in-arm down the path of the moon, show the youngsters "how it should be done."

On such nights as these romances start. Johnny, for example, catches the admiring eye of Sally as he cuts a figure eight or a pigeon wing. Or Jimmy finds favor with Suzy because he can skate backwards and tow her along at the same time. There are, of course, the more rugged village lads who look with scorn upon fancy skating and retreat to an isolated section to engage in furious hockey matches.

What of the cold? Skating warns one as no other sport does and if, by chance, fingers are frosted and toes nipped, there always is a bonfire in the lee of the sagging ice house.

As evening wanes, shouts die down. Groups of skaters gradually start homeward treks. Soon the pond is left to the moon who beams down very much satisfied with what he's seen.

Take My Word For it

Frank Colby

READER'S CORNER

From J. A. W. Pittsburgh: Will you please clarify use of the word "unique"? A says that it expresses degree; B holds that it is a superlative without comparison.

Answer: Unique, a French loan-word (from the Latin unicus, "only, sole"), describes that which has no equal or counterpart. For example, the bat is unique, for it is the only mammal possessing the ability to fly. In good usage, unique is not compared, although the word is used loosely (and inaccurately) in such expressions as "very unique." B wins the argument.

Corpus Christi: Will you please discuss the origin of the word "paisley," a kind of shawl?—Mrs. A. M. J.

Answer: The Paisley shawl of the early 1800s (now a collector's item)

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington — Various estimates have been made of the cost of the current wave of strikes. It is easy to put figures together showing the number of millions of dollars lost each day in wages and in the value of the goods that would have been produced.

But these estimates do not reflect the indirect loss. In a world desperately in need of goods of every sort, any halt in the flow of production is bound to have consequences far beyond the borders of our own country.

Take, for example, the meat-packing strike, which has now been ended by resort to the war powers still retained by the President. It was not merely that consumers were temporarily inconvenienced as the butcher shops were emptied of meats.

Because farmers could not send their animals to market to be slaughtered, they kept them on the farm. That meant the animals had to be fed. This cut into reserve supplies of grain and, in some degree at least, into reserve stocks of wheat. At the price which cattle have been bringing, it has been profitable to feed them wheat, although looking at it from the point of view of the greatest good for the greatest number of people in a hungry world, this is a wasteful process.

—WORLD HAS FOOD DEFICIT—

If there was a surplus of food in the world it would not matter. But instead of a surplus, there is a deficit and it threatens to grow worse instead of better.

A threatened wheat shortage complicates the world food picture. In the spring of 1945, there was a severe drought in the surplus-wheat-producing areas of Europe. It was particularly acute in the Balkans and North Africa. A drought in Australia and New Zealand also drastically curtailed the wheat surplus normally exported from those countries.

Add to this the fact that rice production in the Far East has been seriously curtailed by the war and by the social upheaval following in the wake of the war. This has increased the demand for wheat as a substitute.

In Argentina, throughout the war and even since the war, they have used grain for fuel because they could not get oil and coal. But now a trade agreement has begun to cut down on this source of waste.

Fortunately, in this country, we had a good wheat crop last year. The carry-over from 1945 is put at 689,000,000 bushels. But that represents a sharp drop from the carry-over of a year ago, which was 835,000,000 bushels.

—MUST NOT BE WASTED—

This is a precious reserve which must not be wasted. It is a barrier against the worst ravages of hunger and disease in the devastated areas. It is part of America's strength in the world.

For the year beginning July 1, 1945, world requirements of wheat were estimated at considerably over a billion bushels. The United States could export up to 400,000,000 bushels if it were possible to get the freight cars and procure the wheat.

That is a big if. Reconversion is jamming the railroads. Luxury goods are coming back into the market, and they take space in scarce freight cars.

Within the department of agriculture, there has never been a sufficient awareness of the need to use all possible means to make our food resources count. It may well be because policy-makers, from Secretary Clinton Anderson down, have never been convinced of the desperateness of the world's need for aid.

We in this country have been consuming food at an unparalleled rate. In November and December, consumption of meat was at an all-time high.

When you come to add up the sources of the world's wheat requirement, Canada can supply 335,000,000 bushels, and Argentina and Australia together perhaps 100,000,000. That still leaves, however, a deficit of at least 165,000,000 bushels.

The loss of grain through the 10-day meat strike was, comparatively speaking, very small. But in a world in which gnawing hunger is widespread, and with it the diseases that go with malnutrition, we cannot afford even a small loss. A stable and strong America is needed today more than ever before. The strike crisis must be ended—and quickly.

From W. F. T. Oakland: My friend remarked, "This makes me feel better." I replied, "Me, too." My friend said that I made a grammatical error. He insists that I should have said "I, too." Your decision will be accepted as final.

Answer: Your "me, too," is what my assistant, old Dr. S., would call an "ellipsis," that is, a sentence with one or more words omitted but which are understood. You were saying in effect: "(This makes me feel better), too."

On the other hand, had your friend said, "I feel better because of this," your elliptical remark would properly have been: "I, too," i. e., "I, too (feel better because of this)." You win the argument.

From E. M., Seattle: On the radio we constantly hear references to Secretary of State "Burns." How is the name, Byrnes, pronounced?

Answer: Exactly like the name Burns, just as the name Byrd is pronounced like "bird."

From D. M. T., Toledo: Please pronounce the word "envoy."

Answer: Say: EN-voy. There is no sanction for the frequently heard "ON-voy."

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

BREAKFAST—People seldom eat breakfast in these days of decadent cereals and pop-up toasters. They may call them breakfasts, but they are only a pale echo compared to the morning meal grandpa used to throw on the table in the "good old days."

And grandpa (if he were living) would be revolted by the fodder dished out to his family by the modern mother. Perhaps it is the result of high-pressure advertising, but today's youngsters are being weaned away from a hot and nourishing dish of oatmeal that once was a stock item on the breakfast menu. Now the kids are satisfied with a few flakes of something that comes rattling out of a brightly colored box, replete with pictures of whistling rings, airplane models, and treasure maps. Grandpa would wonder whether the kids ate the stuff because of the box. He might even wonder whether the box itself wouldn't be more tasty.

Of course, in his boyhood days grandpa had more vital interests than being a Junior G-Man, looking over his left shoulder through a periscope at the neighbors, or monotonously flexing his muscles with a piece of coil spring to give him "superman biceps."

DUNATHAN—The youngsters are being weaned away from a hot and nourishing dish of oatmeal that once was a stock item on the breakfast menu. Grandpa would wonder whether the kids ate the stuff because of the box. He might even wonder whether the box itself wouldn't be more tasty.

Of course, in his boyhood days grandpa had more vital interests than being a Junior G-Man, looking over his left shoulder through a periscope at the neighbors, or monotonously flexing his muscles with a piece of coil spring to give him "superman biceps."

IN RETROSPECT—Yes, in the "good old days" the boys of the household pecked at birds' nests instead of neighbors, collected agates instead of box tops, and exercised their arms with wood totting and "chores." There were no school buses and kids (if they went to school at all) walked several miles morning and night. A hot breakfast was a necessity. Without it stomachs would have collapsed by 10 a. m.

The old-fashioned hot breakfast had a bowl of steaming oatmeal as its mainstay, propped up on all sides with other equally sustaining provender. There would be stewed prunes or "sauce" from the family larder, hot rolls or thick slices of toasted home-baked bread that could absorb great yellow chunks of country butter, and often fried meat and potatoes or pancakes. From the big roaster would come the cold but crackly-crisped friedcakes, rich with eggs and sugar and redolent of spices, ready for dunking in coffee or downed with gulps of milk poured from the earthenware pitcher into the children's glasses. And if there were any gastronomic holes left unfilled, they could be chinked with cookies taken from the big stoneware jar in the bottom of the old kitchen cabinet.

UNHURRIED HOUR—Breakfast in those days was an unhurried time, for there were no buses to catch and no clocks to punch. Besides, the whole family went to bed at a reasonable hour, were up early to face the day fortified by a good night's sleep and the prospect of a full stomach.

Mother would as soon have thought of feeding her family swing-shift style as she would have thought of not feeding them at all. Her day was a busy one, and demanded that her kitchen workshop be "red up" and the dishes done at least by 9 o'clock. This meant that the family breakfast be one of complete attendance, not a piece-meal performance by actors with finicky appetites.

And as soon as breakfast was finished mother began packing the children's lunch-pails while they

10 Years Ago—1936

Albert H. Cyr, manager of the Western Union office in Escanaba for many years, has been notified of his promotion as manager of the telegraph office in Manitowish, Wis., effective about March 1.

Word has been received of the death of M. B. Wallace, president of the Escanaba Veneer company since 1909, who died suddenly in Miami where he and Mrs. Wallace were visiting on a vacation motor trip.

William W. Trenary, 57, one of the early settlers of the village of Trenary, in Alger county, was stricken with a heart attack in Tibber's restaurant here last evening and died almost immediately.

Mrs. C. W. Bissell left last evening for Detroit to spend a few days visiting with her son, John Bissell.

20 Years Ago—1926

Washington — William Mitchell renewed his attack on war and navy department aviation policies late today, asserting in a public statement that the bureaucracies they maintain "pass the limit of national conscience and must be thoroughly overhauled at once."

Manistique — Questioning the right of the Manistique city council to permit Sundt's motion pictures, several local churches are leading a movement to have the question submitted to the voters, and petitions to that effect have been circulated.

M. Perron and W. J. Roberge left last night for Chicago to attend the automobile show.

dressed themselves for the long walk to school. Sandwiches, a boiled egg, perhaps a dill pickle or a pickled beet, a pint "sealer" of milk (the cream would rise thick to the top and leave a "mousse" when the milk was drunk), a piece of "marble cake," and a slice of prune or raisin pie filled the tin lunch pail. Mother may not have known much about vitamins, but she knew how to cook.

KITCHEN CALL—There was no difficulty in luring the children to the kitchen for breakfast. Bedrooms in those days were as cold as a quick-freeze locker. At the "rising" call the kids plunged out of feather beds and galloped to the island of warmth around the base burner in the living room. There they shucked off their "outing flannel" nightshirts and donned their clothing for the day, which had been arranged on the backs of chairs near the stove the night before.

All this while there came from the kitchen the mingling of pots and pans, the sputtering of bacon turning brown in its own fat in the cast iron "spider," and the heady aroma of boiling coffee.

Mother had been busy in the kitchen since 5 a. m. and the big range, its top nearly red hot from the flaming maple in the fire box, had warmed every corner of the room. If the living room had its island of warmth, the kitchen was a tropical world, steamingly pleasant, odorously inviting.

COMPARISON—It is all very marvelous—in retrospect. There is another side to that "old-fashioned" breakfast guaranteed to cure the worst case of nostalgia.

This was not the cold bedrooms, the long walk to school, the ceaseless work—but the absence of modern plumbing. One of the early-morning chores was the shoveling of a path to a building of importance discreetly removed from the house, and covered in summer with a lattice of vines. Now in winter it was bare and uninviting, austere and breezy, a place of temporary habitation only by necessity. The good old days? Well, perhaps.

G. I.—VETERANS SERVICE

Q. What is the War Department's policy with regard to the return of war dead?

A. The War Department has announced that no military dead can be returned to the United States from any zone of operations until Congress enacts appropriate legislation. At that time appropriate plans will be announced.

Q. Are fiancées of servicemen entitled to free transportation to the United States the same as wives and children who are acquired overseas by servicemen?

A. They are ineligible for free transportation, but the theater commanders will give every possible assistance, upon request of the serviceman or veteran, to facilitate movement of such individuals.

Q. What was the Army's point score for discharge on January 1, 1946?

A. The criteria for discharges in the Army as of December 31, 1945, was: 50 points; or 42 months of honorable service; or 35, 36, 37 years of age and two years' honorable service; or 33 years of age; or three or more dependent children under 18 years of age.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Q. What is the origin of "Uncle Sam" as applied to the United States?

A. The familiar sobriquet of the United States is commonly stated to have originated at the outbreak of the war with England in 1812 when some one asked what the letters "U. S." marked on casks and barrels meant, and was facetiously told that they referred to "Uncle Sam" or Samuel Wilson, an obscure citizen of Troy, N. Y. The tall figure of a spare old gentleman with a kind face, dressed in apparel similar to the civilian costume of the 1812 period, is said to have been patterned after the likeness of Samuel Wilson.

Q. Can you name the three numbers played on the piano in the motion picture "Three Strangers"?

A. The selections were: "Brahms Lullaby," "Brahms Waltz in A Flat," and "Chopin's Nocturne No. 2."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Q. My husband insists on "boiled" coffee. Please tell me how to make it.

A. Use one heaping tablespoon of coffee, regular grind, and one teaspoon of beaten egg for each standard measuring cup of cold water. Put the coffee and egg in the pot and mix thoroughly. Pour in water and bring the mixture slowly to a boil, stirring the coffee down occasionally. As soon as it boils, remove it from the stove, pour 1/4 cup of cold water into the pot to settle the grounds, let it stand in a warm place 3 to 5 minutes, then strain off the liquid.

Q. Is there a certain way to boil beets to retain their bright red color?

A. Leave an inch or two of stems on them.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—It's being kept under wraps so far, but Secretary of State Byrnes is planning a unique step in handling American foreign relations. He will soon establish a three-way cabinet committee, consisting of the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy and himself, to guide U. S. policy abroad.

Hitherto, the Secretary of State himself, under the direction of the President, has always handled foreign policy. Conferences were held with other cabinet heads when necessary, and, during the year or so before Pearl Harbor, the army and navy, almost more than the state department, dictated U. S. policy toward Japan.

However, never before has there been an official cabinet committee to advise on foreign policy such as that now being worked out by Byrnes.

One reason behind the move is the fact that American policy now hinges more and more on the location of U. S. troops abroad, the state and war departments, for instance, must work closely together regarding the occupation of Germany. Likewise in Japan.

Another reason is the fact that Secretary Byrnes is personally close to Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, and probably can get support for his ideas.

NOTE—When FDR was alive, he dominated foreign affairs. Having lived abroad and traveled extensively, he made virtually all major decisions in the state department. Not so Truman.

—NO LADIES MAN, EISENHOWER—

General "Ike" Eisenhower is as fearless as they make 'em when it comes to German air and artillery attack. He is also calm and collected under fire of senatorial committees. But, warrior that he is, General Eisenhower is not so poised when the opposite sex gets on the firing line.

Recently, six determined young women had the chief of staff almost wanting to retreat when they called at his office to demand the discharge of army fathers. The delegation was led by Mrs. James G. Mueller of Pittsburgh, Pa., whose husband, the father of two children, is serving in Italy.

One group of ladies had besieged the General in the Halls of Congress, which proved embarrassing. So, later, Eisenhower graciously invited a delegation of mothers to call at the Pentagon building, at which time Mrs. Mueller set forth six points of the program of the "Bring Home Daddy Club," including the use of family allotments for the establishment of overseas schools for single volunteers.

"The present allotments for service wives with children aren't enough to support us anyhow, General," she said. "Why not discharge all the fathers so you can use the allotment money for the purpose of attracting volunteers to the army?"

"Just what are the family allotments for enlisted men?" inquired Eisenhower.

A question like this coming from the chief of staff of the army caused his callers to stare at each other. Mrs. Mueller hastened to explain that the wife of an enlisted man with one child receives $80, $100 if she has two children. Ike didn't bother to alibi his slip, though he looked at bit flustered.

The feminine delegation next went after the General on hardship cases.

—RED CROSS CRITICIZED—

And again Eisenhower let himself in for some fireworks by declaring that the Red Cross was doing a satisfactory job of handling service hardships.

"Would you consider a woman with tuberculosis a hardship case?" shot back Mrs. Mueller. Without waiting for an answer, she reported several other cases wherein retention of fathers in the service constituted a hardship, some of them supported by sworn affidavits.

"I'm not trying to criticize the Red Cross," she explained, "but hardships aren't being handled properly."

Eisenhower paced the floor for several minutes, promised a thorough investigation and a report to the ladies. Regarding discharges, he told them the army plans to discharge about 500,000 enlisted fathers by July 1. Others, he said, will have to remain until replacements are trained.

"I will be just as happy as you are to get these fathers home," he declared, "but at the same time we must maintain our occupation forces in Germany and elsewhere. So we can't let men out until we get somebody to replace them."

His callers pointed out that too many able-bodied single men are being deferred by local draft boards.

"I'd advise you to put some pressure on the draft boards," suggested Eisenhower, closing the interview.

As his visitors left, they thought they detected a sigh of relief as from one who has just been through a session with his dentist.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving but sad memory of our dear husband, son and brother, Pfc. Vance A. Tatro, who was killed in action in France, one year ago today, Jan. 31, 1945. He little thought when leaving home he would return no more. That he in death so soon would sleep and leave us here to mourn. We do not know what pain he bore. We did not see him die.

We only know he passed away and could not say goodbye.

No one knows the silent heartaches, only those who've lost can tell. Of the grief that is borne in silence for husband and son we loved so well.

More and more each day we miss him, friends may think the wound is healed.

But they little know the sorrow that lies within our hearts concealed.

Sadly missed by his wife, parents, brothers and sister.

Mrs. Margaret Tatro, Mrs. Joe Baldrice, Brothers Joe, Hal and Blondie, 5337-31-11.

Rural Mail Route Here Has Increased Number Of Patrons

There has been a considerable increase in the number of families served by rural mail carriers here during the past several years, Postmaster Regina W. Cleary reports.

In 1939 the postoffice was listed as having 342 rural patrons and in mid-1945 the number was 448. The route now covers 50.7 miles in comparison to 42 in 1939.

The number of rural patrons of the local postoffice increased along with an increase in the number of rural mail patrons throughout the country although the total number of rural mail routes decreased, largely due to route consolidations.

In some cities the increase in rural mail was so great the post-office department was forced to establish branch offices or postal stations in order to add rural patrons to city delivery service.

The department has a number of rules regarding qualifications for rural mail service, principal among which are those requiring mail boxes of standard design and location of boxes on the right hand side of the road.

Most Snowfall Of Winter Recorded

Six and one-half inches of snowfall was recorded during the two-day storm ending last night, the heaviest so far this winter. It was reported by Henry E. Hathaway, U. S. Weather Bureau meteorologist at Escanaba.

Hathaway said there is now eleven inches of snow on the ground.

The snowstorm was welcomed only by skiers and other winter sports enthusiasts. Motorists were busy shoveling driveways and alleys, and having their cars pushed and towed when they became stuck in snowbanks.

The storm delayed wheel traffic and clogged some side roads, although main highways were kept open.

In the woods the production of forest products was hampered by the deep snow, and trucking was slowed.

Deer which have been roaming freely during the open winter are expected to seek the protection of their yards in cedar swamps.

During the Christian era, iron was used as a medium of exchange in many isolated regions of Africa.

SENIORS STUDY CITY OFFICES

Plan To Take Over Local Government For A Day This Spring

The government course at the Escanaba Senior high school is one of the last subjects a student must take before leaving his books of learning to go out in the business world on his own. Thus one of the aims of the course is to give the students a better understanding of the functionings and purposes of city government for future use in civic activities. In this light, the class, under the direction of Miss Nina Ley, is taking up the unit of city or local government.

The climax of this study is taking over the city of Escanaba for a day by the students this spring. A unit test is given at the end of the study. This test will be used as if the student had taken a civil service examination and when he or she applies for a job in the city government for a day, these tests will determine their eligibility. The test must show a passing grade in order for the students to take part in the program.

This government class is a half year course required by each senior.

Starting the semester now with the second half of the senior class we find them studying the different types of local government. Since the class started they have studied the village-township, mayor-council, and commission type of city government. At present they are busy with the Escanaba city manager form of government.

In working with the city government unit the class does not use text-books but actually goes out and gets interviews from city employees of the various offices.

These interviews and reports are required for students desiring "A" and "B" grades. There are 93 seniors taking the course now. These 93 are split into three different classes of about 30 students each. Thus for the 16 city offices there are at least one from each class who will interview a certain employee and return to his class and give a report to the rest of the students on how it is run. The interviews last from a half hour to two hours and the students report their findings usually the next day or the day following. It is not easy for all students to interview people and so the instructor usually sends along a list of questions.

When the class finishes the present unit they will go on to county, state and national forms of government. Then taxes, courts, elections and political parties will be studied.

111 Cedar StreetVET COUNCIL
OFFICE BUSYMany Returned Veterans
Seek Assistance
With Problems

The Schoolcraft County Council of Veterans Affairs, with offices in Room 9, First National Bank Building is already a busy place, Leonard N. Mulhaupt, veterans' counselor in charge, reports.

There are such a multitude of widely varied problems confronting the veteran on his return to civilian life and so many new problems arising that practically any returned veteran will find it to his advantage to call and talk things over, says Mulhaupt. For that reason, he states, he is sending a letter to all discharged veterans inviting them to call at the center whether or not they have any immediate problems. Under the G. I. Bill of Rights there are many benefits to which the veteran is entitled and he promises to do his best in helping the veteran make the most of his opportunities.

One specific request is made of all veterans seeking assistance of the council, Mulhaupt states. The veteran must bring along his discharge papers or a certified copy of it. He suggests that when the veteran registers his discharge papers at the county clerk's office, that he request that two copies be made of the document. These can be used instead of the original discharge paper and thus help preserve this practically priceless possession.

Already the office has been called upon to take up many important veteran affairs, matters such as reinstatement of insurance, emergency hospitalization, matters pertaining to mustering out, payments, vocational guidance claims, loans under the G. I. Bill of Rights, correcting mistakes on discharge papers, assisting nearest of kin of men in the service with allotment problems and many other matters, not only affecting veterans of the late war but of World War I as well.

One particular service the office is in position to perform is the matter of properly filling out the blanks that are often so bewildering and in helping the applicant avoid much government red tape. The counselor states that from time to time he will visit such outlying districts as Germfask, Seney and Cooks and assist veterans who call with their problems. These meetings will be held at schoolhouses in the areas and advance notice will be given veterans in the area.

Mr. Mulhaupt, himself a recently discharged veteran with a long overseas record, was appointed to the position of counselor when the office was created early last month. Before assuming charge he took a special course in training for the work at Lansing.

Trip To Lansing
Is Delayed When
Car Hits Deer

City Manager Charles D. Manson and City Attorney G. S. Johnson had to turn back from a contemplated trip to Lansing Tuesday because a deer ran out of the brush just ahead of their car and in the resulting collision the car was badly damaged and the deer, a large doe, was killed.

The accident happened about eleven miles this side of St. Ignace. The deer bounded out of the brush with such speed that Mr. Johnson, who was driving the car, had neither time to slow down nor swerve from his course.

A highway truck appeared on the scene a few minutes later and towed the car to town. It was found that the radiator and the fan were completely ruined. Unable to get the car repaired in time to continue the journey, they canceled their appointments for official business and returned home by bus.

Among the activities they had planned to attend was the annual meeting of city managers scheduled for Wednesday.

Neither Manson nor Johnson professed to know who got the venison.

WOODSMEN STRIKE

Iron River—Some 40 workers employed by the Connor Lumber and Land company, Wakefield, who operate a logging camp 12 miles above Gibbs City, were off their jobs today in what is described as an effort to get higher wages for a group of sawyers.

The men quit Monday, when the company refused to increase the wages of sawyers from two and a half cents a lineal foot to two and a half cents. Officers of Local 15, International Woodworkers, say the prevailing pay is two and a half cents.

The company is said to employ only 10 sawyers. The workers are housed in a company camp, where only the kitchen and barn crews are working.

The supply of food, it is reported, will last only through Friday. No food has been taken in this week.

Tips for Farmers

Future Dairy Demands Look Good

Michigan milk prices will hold up well during the first half of 1946 with somewhat more than a normal seasonal drop during the late spring and early summer months. But general weakening of dairy prices seem to be in the picture for the last part of the year.

Removal of government regulations limiting sales of milk and cream has resulted in general increases in retail milk deliveries throughout the nation. This is one of the most encouraging signs in the dairy situation. Even in Detroit, despite the fact that many workers have left since V-J day, fluid demand approximates that of a year ago. Present indications are that fluid demand will hold up well during 1946, and may even increase if urban employment is at a high level.

A sharp reduction in government purchase of evaporated milk, cheese and dried milk has taken place. Last year the United States produced about 90 million cases of evaporated milk, compared with 50 million cases before the war. It is now estimated that the equivalent of 20 million cases will need to be diverted into other uses. The increased demand for fluid milk, cream and ice cream probably will absorb most of this cut-back. Some reduction is likely to occur in cheese production. The markets for non-fat dried milk solids and dry whole milk seem more uncertain than the other dairy products, and some reduction in price is expected by mid-year. This reduction may affect the prices of other dairy products. Butter supplies are low, and it is expected that butter prices will continue at ceiling levels.

Dairy production payments will stop March 31, 1946 unless special provision is made for extending them beyond this date. During 1945 production payments amounted to 14 per cent of total farm income from milk. Undoubtedly when production payments are removed, corresponding adjustments will be made in price ceilings. Whether dairy products prices will rise by the full extent of the subsidies is still a question at this time.

Annie, Pet Deer
At Blaney Park
Shot By Poacher

Annie, the pet deer at Blaney Park, whose friendliness and fondness for soda crackers endeared her to the hundreds of guests who visited there, is no more. She was the victim of the misplaced confidence that has caused the death of so many of her kind who have learned to trust human beings.

A few nights ago a shot was heard and since that time she and her fawn have not been seen. News of the animal's destruction was featured in Tuesday's issue of the Chicago Tribune. The informant at Blaney states: "She was so tame that she probably ran toward the man with the gun thinking that he was going to feed her. Frankly it would be just as hard shooting a five year old kid on a playground."

"I would like to meet the man who killed our pet. You just hate to believe that men live who would shoot a pet deer like ours. It looks as if I had better sell my dark overcoat and buy a red one for the rest of the winter or I may get clipped walking across my back yard."

"I believe her little fawn comes alone after dark. I couldn't help but think of her alone in last night's blizzard. I hope it will survive the winter, but I believe it will be a struggle."

Committee To Take
Necessary Action

The Airport Committee of the Schoolcraft County Board of Supervisors was instructed to take all necessary action to secure a designation and license from federal and state bureaus for the local airport along U. S. Highway 2.

This was the final order of business of the January meeting of that body.

The action was taken after a proposal by private individuals to lease the field had been turned down by the board.

As the situation now stands, the field can only be used for temporary landing and takeoff purposes and the state and federal licenses and proper designation will have to be secured before concessions for oil, gas, and hangar accommodations can be provided.

At present the nearest licensed landing field to the east is at Newberry.

Another matter taken up at Wednesday afternoon's meeting of the board was the passing of a resolution requesting that the use to which the intangibles tax, distributed to various county units, be put, be liberalized. At present this tax may be spent only for capital improvements and many townships having no such improvements on their program are unable to use this money.

The next regular meeting of the supervisors will be held in April.

Eskymos And Blue Devils, Both Unbeaten, Clash At Soo Tonight

TEAMS BOAST 8 WINS EACH

Lock City Quint Draws Favored Position For Battle

The Eskymos basketball team puts its undefeated record on the line tonight against the Soo Blue Devils, another unbeaten quintet, in a battle at the Sault that highlights the week's basketball schedule in the upper peninsula.

For Coach Rouman's quintet, it will be the first time this season that they are entering the game as the underdogs. The records of the two teams are virtually the same but the fact that the game is being played at the Soo is sufficient to swing the odds in favor of the Lock City aggregation. Both are veteran teams and last year the Blue Devils trimmed the Eskymos on the local court.

In Doherty, Gerlich and Splan the Sault boasts three of the peninsula's sharpest basketballers and Coach Jim Rouman, who saw the Soo edge out Ishpeming last Saturday, concedes that his lads are in for a stiff fight at the Soo tonight.

The starting lineup for the Eskymos will be Don Ohman and Jim Ross at forwards, Jack Finn at center, Bob Dufour and Don Scott at guards. Other members of the squad making the trip to the Soo are Ted Finn, Roger Peterson, Jack Schills, John Benson and Dick Lough. The squad is driving to the Soo with Coach Poutman and Assistant Coach Henry Wylie. The squad will remain overnight at the Ojibway hotel in the Soo and will return to Escanaba Saturday.

Both Escanaba and Sault State Marie have chalked up a string of eight consecutive victories this season and remain the only unbeaten teams in Class B. Ironwood has not lost to an upper peninsula team yet but dropped an inter-state match to Hurley.

Hawks vs Indians In Hockey Clash At Gladstone Tonight

A feature of the Gladstone winter carnival tonight will be a hockey game at the Gladstone rink between the Escanaba Hawks and the Gladstone Indians.

The contest will begin shortly after the basketball game between Ishpeming and Gladstone.

Members of the Hawks sextet are requested by manager Robert Grabowski to report promptly tonight at 7 o'clock at the North Escanaba rink.

U.P. Winter Queen Will Be Crowned On Feb. 14

Houghton—The all-Upper Peninsula Queen of the North contest, which has been assigned to Houghton this year, will reach its climax on the night of Feb. 14 with the crowning of the Queen. The coronation ceremony will be one of the main features of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology's Winter Carnival, and will take place during the Ice Revue at Dee Stadium.

Nine Upper Peninsula towns have announced that they will send candidates to the Queen of the North contest. They are Marquette, Ishpeming, Negaunee, Escanaba, Gladstone, Houghton, Hancock, Calumet, and Laurium. More entries are expected.

Michigan Tech has already selected its candidate. She is Miss Beatrice Roberts, of Elk Rapids, a graduate of Newberry high school. Miss Roberts, an honor student, is in her senior year at Michigan Tech, specializing in chemical engineering. She is secretary of the MCMT Ski club, a member of A. I. Ch. E., was president of her class in her sophomore year, and has served as secretary of the Student Organization and of the Student Council. Twenty-two years old, five-and-a-half feet tall, with brown hair and brown eyes, Bea Roberts is the students' unanimous choice as their candidate for Queen of the North.

Each Queen candidate will bring a chaperone with her. They will arrive in Houghton on Wednesday, Feb. 13, and will be entertained at a luncheon in the Douglas House. Judging takes place that afternoon. Housing of the contestants and their chaperones is being arranged by the Houghton Association of Commerce, in collaboration with Michigan Tech's Queen Committee.

Mr. George Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, has consented to be one of the judges. Two others will be named.

The Ice Revue will be directed by Bill Provost, who has produced several excellent shows in the past. In addition to the Queen coronation ceremony, numbers will include the Misses Helen Glitzen and Marjorie Messenger in free skating routines; Miss Aileen Brooks in her own interpretation, "Rhythm on Ice"; Miss Laura Carpenter in a sensational acrobatic feature; Misses Eunice Karvala and Betty Siltanen as a skating duo; Messrs. Robert Johnson and Bill Provost, two group numbers, and a comedy act.

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 31 (AP)—Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas., cracked out a four-under-par 66 here today to take a lead of one stroke in the $7,500 Tucson open golf championship.

He succeeds Edward Erickson as president of the club.

A large crowd attended last night's meeting and enjoyed an evening of singing following the business meeting.

Entry List Grows For Michigan State Relay Event Feb. 9

East Lansing, Jan. 31 (AP)—Top track and field talent from the midwest will be on hand at the Michigan State Relays Feb. 9 at Michigan State College. Spartan Track Coach Karl A. Schladehamer predicted today in announcing a list of preliminary entries.

With the meet still more than a week away 122 entries from only three schools have been received. Schladehamer said, Ohio State and Michigan State have filed 44 and 67 entries, respectively, while 11 entries have been received from Western Michigan College. Additional full teams from the University of Michigan and from Notre Dame, besides individual entries from other schools, are expected.

Topping the Ohio State entries is Carl Barnard, negro speed merchant who last week led the Buckeyes with two firsts as they lost to M.S.C. In a dual meet, 68-50, Ed Taylor, who in the 1943 relay established a Jensen Fieldhouse record of six feet, six and five-eighths inches in the high jump, will lead the Western Michigan squad.

Expected to carry the load for State are Ted Worch, pole vaulter who established three records in the Ohio State meet; Bob Carrier, speedy hurdler and Walt Mack, versatile distance and mid-distance runner.

GLADSTONE AND ISHPeming MIX

Strong Hematite Quintet Will Invade Uphay City Tonight

Gladstone, Mich.—One of the season's best cage offerings is on tap this evening when the Gladstone high school Braves tackle the strong Ishpeming high quintet on the local floor. It will be the first post-holiday home game.

A preliminary has been arranged to start at 7 o'clock. The main tilt will begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

Ishpeming again has one of the classiest teams in the Upper Peninsula as was evidenced last week-end when they took on two undefeated teams, Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie, and gave each the score of their lives, losing only by a few points in each game.

The Hematites are good both on offense and defense and in Okeston have a towering center who usually controls rebounds off both boards.

Coach Eldon Keil is starting Gillis at center; Capt. Engstrom and Haglund at forward, and Olson and Olive at guards.

Vance Hiney of Negaunee will handle the tilt.

UNBEATEN IRISH DOWN SPARTANS

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 31 (AP)—Notre Dame's unbeaten basketball team huddled No. 13 successfully tonight by downing Michigan State's stubborn Spartans, 62 to 57.

With lightning Leo Klier hitting from all angles for 26 points, the Irish led all the way, but their lead never was great enough for them to relax an instant.

Getting away fast, Notre Dame rolled up a 9-to-0 margin before Michigan State got into the game. Notre Dame held the lead at 21 to 13 midway in the first half, but Bill Krall and Rudy Peppier went to work for the Spartans and closed it up to 21 to 18. Klier and Vince Boryla countered with a drive to give the Irish their greatest advantage of the game at 30 to 18, but Michigan State narrowed it to 30 to 24 at the half.

The Spartans shot the works in the first three minutes of the second half as Waldron, White and Krall pulled them to within two points at 32 to 30. Klier and Boryla sent the Irish away again to a 45-to-36 advantage, but State spurred again to make it 51 to 46 with six minutes to go.

Notre Dame drew away again to lead at 58 to 49, but Krall connected from the side and Sam Porting laid in two one-handers to make it 58 to 55 with two minutes to go. Klier and Waldron matched baskets and John Dee added a lay-in shot for Notre Dame as the time ran out.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Boxing fans have been getting a free show nightly at the recreation center where a number of lads entered in the U. P. Golden Gloves tournament are in training.

In addition to the usual training chores of rope skipping, bag punching, etc., the lads have been going through a few rounds of actual boxing, much to the delight of increasingly large crowd of fight fans.

At first the boys boxed without the use of training headgear but this was stopped when one of the lads got a sharp cut on the face which threatened to put him out of the tournament.

Now all of the boys are required to don the training headgear which are available at the center. Fortunately none of the entrants has been forced out of the tournament because of training injuries.

The lad who drew the cut face is back in shape now. One of the most promising entrants, however, was forced to withdraw because of injuries received in an automobile accident. He is Bob Hart, of Gladstone, who was one of the hardest working lads in the training group. Hart will see the fight as a guest of the Lions club, however, and local fight fans probably will get a chance to see him in action at a later date.

CARDINALS WILL SELL PITCHERS

Breadon Brings Roster Of 25 Samples To Swap Meeting

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Salesman Sam Breadon, the most sought after man in baseball, arrived in town today for the scheduled meetings carrying a St. Louis Cardinal roster loaded down with 25 pitchers but announced he planned to "go a little slow" in trading his samples.

"Some of those pitchers I wouldn't sell for a price," said the president of the Cardinals, declining to name any names but obviously referring to a tosser like Johnny Beazley, who went off to war fresh from a brilliant World Series triumph.

Asked about stories that Outfielder Johnny Hopp was on the block, Breadon stated, "nobody on the club is for sale." He admitted, however, some could be had for the right price.

While Sam was dusting off his samples, preparatory to the buyers' rush, there were reports that the Boston Braves and New York Giants had an inside line to a couple of pitchers, an infielder and an outfielder on the Red Bird list.

George Trautman, new general manager of the World Champion Detroit Tigers, said he didn't have any deals in mind but added facetiously, "we'll be glad to talk with anybody who thinks he can help us."

Although the meetings don't open until tomorrow, most of the owners were in town a day early. The American and National Leagues met separately tomorrow and then held a joint session under Commissioner A. B. Chandler Saturday morning.

The question of bonus payments to free agents was to come up for discussion as was the promotional plan that Chandler said he was determined to have in the commissioner's office. The minors had voted a separate promotional organization at their Columbus meetings over Chandler's protests. The man to run the new setup may be named Saturday.

Game Crop Outlook Favorable For 1946

Lansing, Jan. 31 (AP)—With the possible exception of pheasants, Michigan's game crop prospects appear good for the 1946 hunting season. D. W. Douglass, of the state conservation department's game division declared today.

Despite growing fear among sportsmen's groups of a declining game population following the sharp drop in number of pheasants last fall, there should be plenty of game for the 1946 hunters, Douglass said.

Reporting that Michigan's "animal and bird count appears to be holding its own," Douglass said game years because fluctuations in game populations are characteristic.

Some game species, particularly the ruffed grouse, have shown tendencies for ups and downs in numbers, he said. Conservation department figures on the various game birds and animals in the state show high populations for all except possibly ruffed grouse, muskrat and beaver.

Near End Of Trail, Zivic Confident Of Victory Over Bell

Detroit, Jan. 31 (AP)—Fritz Zivic, the former world welterweight champion, who at 33 years of age is fighting for the 261st time as a professional, tackles O'Neill Bell, of Detroit, Friday in one feature of a double-header show at Olympia which also pits state lightweight champion Bill J. Jody, of Flint, against Ace Miller, of Toledo. Both bouts are scheduled for 10 rounds.

Zivic, near the end of his fight trail was confident of victory over Bell, whose latest triumph was a decision over California Jackie Wilson here. After meeting Bell, Zivic wants "just two or three more fights" before he quits the ring.

Eddy's test against Miller is a rematch, inasmuch as the Flint southpaw better lost a decision to the Toledoan just three weeks before gaining the state lightweight title by beating Leroy Willis at Olympia last year.

Members of the Lions club boxing committee have worked long and hard to put on the 1946 Golden Gloves tournament, but some of the best work has been accomplished by local fight fans not connected with the Lions club or the Escanaba Daily Press, co-sponsors of the tournament. Chet Johnson, the old Tiger of local boxing, for instance, has done yeoman service in lining up fighters and helping them train for the bouts. Jerome Deloria has helped many of the boys at the training center and has absorbed a lot of punches, too, as he has put on the gloves with the fighters entered in the show. Glen Erlandsen is another who has contributed immeasurably. Ditto for Ray Good-nough, who not only crusaded for entries and helped them in training but entered the meet himself as an open division fighter. There are others, too, fellows like Art Peterson, without whose help the 1946 Golden Gloves tournament could never have become reality.

Fight fans are going to get plenty of action at the Gloves tournament. As expected, there is a dearth of entries in the open division because of the fact that there has been no boxing activity for several years due to the war, but there is a fine crop of novices, boxers, crowd pleasers, too. There will be well over two hours of boxing each night of the tournament and the bouts will move along without delay between matches. As soon as the decision is announced in one bout, the next pair of fighters will be prepared to step into the ring.

BOXERS ENTER FROM SKANDIA

More Fighters Lined Up In Golden Gloves Tournament

Three entries representing the Marquette Lions club were received by the Golden Gloves boxing committee yesterday and an additional entry from that area is expected today.

Entries received yesterday are Richard E. Johnson, 147 novice, Mike Libick, 135 novice; and Roy Englund, 135 novice. All are from Skandia and are students at the Marquette high school.

An additional entry, Douglas Francis, in the 147 pound novice class is expected today.

Local boxers will taper off their training program at the recreation center tonight and will hold only a light workout Saturday night.

The boys will weigh in at the junior high school gymnasium Monday afternoon at four o'clock and will submit to physical examinations at that time.

OPEN VETERANS FUND CAMPAIGN

Appeal For $8,000 Made To Finance Office Of Veterans Affairs

A drive to finance the Office of Veterans Affairs in Delta county for the ensuing year will be opened Monday, it was announced yesterday by Gerald J. Cleary, secretary of the Office of Veterans Affairs here.

"To carry on our work for the year 1946 it is necessary to make this appeal to the people of the county," Cleary said. "Approximately $8,000 will be necessary to cover administration expense, including office personnel, telephone, telegraph, office supplies, postage, medical and hospitalization expense."

Operation costs for the Office of Veterans Affairs is expected to average about $11,000. The Delta county board of supervisors has appropriated $1,500 toward operation of the office, and $1,500 was realized from contributions to the Delta county War Fund. As of Jan. 1, 1946, there was a balance on hand of $3,000, Cleary reported.

The Office of Veterans Affairs was established by Gov. Kelly in 1944, and local offices in Michigan counties were established and maintained without financial assistance from the state of Michigan. Majority of the counties are largely financed by the county in which the office is located.

The local OVA offices provide veterans and their families with assistance in solving their problems and needs, including insurance, education, applications for awards in pay, hospitalization, G.I. loans, civil service employment, pension matters and others.

Since 1929, U. S. population has increased more than 15,000,000.

Veterinarians Of U. P. Use Services Of Branch Lab Here

Dr. G. S. Eversole, veterinarian in charge of the branch laboratory set up here last November by the state department of agriculture, reports that by the end of last year 905 blood tests for Bang's disease in cattle of Upper Peninsula herds had been made here. A large number of tests have been made already this year.

The branch laboratory was established here in order to shorten the time in reporting results of the tests, formerly made at the department's headquarters in East Lansing, to the Upper Peninsula veterinarians who make use of the service here. Samples are tested the same day they are received and results reported as quickly as possible.

Most of the 13 veterinarians in the U. P. are making use of the laboratory service here. Tests are made only of samples which have been drawn by or under the direction of a licensed veterinarian.

Under a Michigan law which became effective last September no cows may be sold except for slaughter unless they have been tested for Bang's disease and found to be free of the contagious disease.

The law has resulted in an increased demand for the tests and the laboratory here is able to provide much faster service to dairymen in the Upper Peninsula.

Since the legislation went into effect one cattle dealer was arrested and fined here for failure to have the necessary tests made before selling an animal.

The laboratory here is located at 606 Ludington street.

REPORT THIRD BURGLARY HERE

Cash, Locket Taken From Another Home On South 14th Street

In the third burglary within a week of south side homes, all located within a four block radius on South 14th street, a silver locket and chain and $15 in cash were taken from the home of Richard Trotter, 403 South 14th street, sometime between 6:30 and 9:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Although the Trotter residence was thoroughly ransacked, a large amount of cash was overlooked by the thief, who used a key found in the rear entrance of the dwelling to gain entry through the kitchen door.

Police officers are continuing their investigations of all three cases but would make no comments on the burglaries other than that clues were meager.

The silver heart-shaped locket taken at the Trotter home bore the engraved name "Renelle" on one side and a flier's emblem, a pair of wings, on the other. The locket contained a picture of the Trotters' sons, Clarence and Norbert.

The other recent burglaries were at the home of Rev. John Anderson, 524 South 14th street, last week, and on Monday night at the John W. Watson residence, 716 South 14th street. All three of the homes were entered early in the evening while their owners were away.

A fountain pen and $18 in cash were taken at the Watson home and two fountain pens, several jackknives and magnifying glasses at the Rev. Anderson home.

RADIUM—AN ACCIDENT

Radium was discovered accidentally, Henri Becquerel, friend of the late Madame Curie, was making a study of uranium when he happened to leave some on a photographic plate covered with black paper overnight, and found it lightstruck the next morning.

Owners Of House Trailers Urged To Apply For License

Owners of house trailers which bear no manufacturer's serial number are advised by William F. Ranguette, manager of the local license bureau branch, to make application for new plates now as a new Michigan law requires the state to assign a serial number and the applications must be sent to Lansing.

Commercial vehicle owners are reminded again to bring both titles and weight slips when purchasing new plates.

Twenty-four days remain in which to purchase new passenger or commercial tags before the Feb. 28 deadline.

Car owners are asked to secure new plates as soon as possible in order to avoid a rush of sales, with consequent inconvenience to purchasers, in the final week before the deadline.

The highest mountain peak in South America is at Aconcagua, Argentina, and has an elevation of 22,834 feet.

service. He spent one year overseas with the 99th Division in the European theater of operations, and wears three battle stars on his ETO ribbon. He also wears the American defense, victory and good conduct ribbons and the special unit citation bar. Another son, Cpl. Leo T.
